20 Secrets to Using the Divine Power of Your Mind to Manifest Prosperity

BY MASTER PROPHET
E. BERNARD JORDAN
I would like to dedicate this book to my mentor in ministry Rev. Frederick Eikerenkoetter, Th.B., D.Sc.L., Ph.D. affectionately known as “Rev. Ike,” to the members of P.O.M.E. which is the company of prophets trained in the fine and ancient arts of prophecy, and finally to my wife, Pastor Debra Jordan.
I would like to thank each of these prophetic partners. Their financial seeds have made these book a reality. Every time someone receives life through reading this work, may God add years and fruitfulness to your life.

Prosperity has gone from buzzword to cliché in the past decade. Pastors, parishioners, business owners, CEOs, athletes, and even entertainers all believe they know what prosperity is. When they attain their brand of prosperity, they begin to pursue their style of prosperous living without implementing a workable plan. For the most part, they arrive at the end of an exhausting journey and discover that they are no closer to their goal—and they really didn’t know what their goal was in the first place.

In four centuries, the universal church has proscribed its followers from indulgences that were thought to corrupt moral character. In a sincere attempt to expurgate the bad, they have also thrown away the greatest good of all—our God-given ability to think. While many churches squirm like a fish out of water at the idea of independent thought, what they fail to realize is that the purpose of creation is directly connected to man’s ability to think for himself. Salvation does not occur within the soul of humanity without the use of the mind. With the mouth confession is made, but with the mind, man believes.

Unfortunately, many religious leaders do not want their members to think. They fear that once they free their minds and begin asking difficult questions, they will discover that they are being manipulated and controlled. So some conservative Christian leaders scorn intellectualism and discourage thought, denying their flock the connection with their most godlike asset: their mind. Being a third generation child of the Pentecostal heritage, I distinctly remember pastors strictly forbidding members to visit certain churches within our denomination, fearing that we might not come back.

Also, I remember how the same pastors encouraged us to read the Bible only, claiming that other books would contaminate our mind and spirit, rendering us worthless in the sight of God. Naturally that excluded books about science, technology, astronomy, medicine, or even law. For the most part, no one from our faith community ever entered the workforce in any of those disciplines. Most parishioners acquiesced and remained ignorant. Being an existentialist, I choose to read and re-read works by some of the greatest thinkers in the world.

While many believed that I would come back from that experience contaminated and preaching false doctrine, just the opposite happened. I gained an appreciation for the Lord Jesus Christ as never before. For the first time in my life, I realized that Christ truly is all in all. I realized that God uses minds—as author Napoleon Hill would say, The Master Mind—to communicate truths beyond our limited understanding.

Should we accept what religious leaders tell us unquestioningly? Should we assume they have some special access to the truth that we cannot? The only way that we will know the answers to those questions is when we search for knowledge. Searching will require us to explore the many avenues that God has made available to us for our learning. Reading, questioning and acquiring knowledge is not counter to the desire of God; they are the intent of God.

Because they hated knowledge and did not choose the fear of the Lord. They would not accept my counsel, They spurned all my reproof.

—Proverbs 1:29-30 NASU

There is a direct correlation between reverencing God and loving knowledge. One cannot truly love God without also loving knowledge. The Creator is Knowledge, and He does not wish His creation to be ignorant. Despite your allegiance to church, family, and community, if you hate knowledge you will not know how to serve God. It is through knowledge that we understand the all sufficiency, all potency, and the omni-scientific mind of Elohim, Creator of heaven and earth.

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge; Fools despise wisdom and instruction.

—Proverbs 1:7 NASU

Over the years I have had the honor of meeting some of the worlds greatest spiritual and business leaders. The most inimitable is His Grace Bishop E. Bernard Jordan. Few, if any, of the leaders I have become acquainted with come close to his singularity of purpose. His life’s mission is to empower his people. Who are his people? Jesus was once asked the same question; Bishop Jordan’s response is the same: his people are those who do the will of the Father.
Bishop Jordan has written a stellar work that is guaranteed to free the mentally enslaved, acquit the wrongfully charged, and bring healing to the sick. The Law of Thinking is not a work for the shallow-minded person. It is demanding and challenging. It is neither intended to be used as the basis for unmerited criticism nor as sermon material for the minister having difficulty receiving a fresh word from the Lord. It was written with a very clear aim: to provoke spiritual thought. Bishop Jordan realizes that everything in life started with a thought. Bill Gates’ Microsoft, Oprah Winfrey’s Harpo Production, Stephen Spielberg’s DreamWorks, Henry Ford’s Ford Corporation, and even his own Zoë Ministries all began with a thought.

Every invention, university, book, song, business, home, skyscraper, movie, stage play, and baby began when someone chose to think. Nothing happens without thought. Creation did not happen without God’s Thought. Bishop Jordan’s first objective is getting you to think. His second is to help you understand the laws that govern the universe of thought. And his final goal is to help you organize your thoughts into a system that will ensure positive results in your life. The winners in life are not necessarily Rhodes Scholars or the most spiritual, but rather the people who solve the most problems for their fellow travelers.

Solving problems is the most lucrative profession in the universe, because everyone has problems. But to help others solve their problems effectively, you must have a workable, effective, easy to use, easy to teach system in place to solve your own problems. Without a system, you will fail. That is why so many entertainers and athletes go broke when just a few years before they were on top of the world. They had no system. This book contains that system: the Law of Thinking.
The Law is a set of principles that is organized and enforced by a governing authority. Break the law, and you will suffer unfortunate consequences. Obey the law, and you will experience freedom, prosperity and satisfaction. In the Law of Thinking: 20 Secrets to Using the Divine Power of Your Mind to Manifest Prosperity, Bishop Jordan shows you how to tap into the freedom that you’ve always wanted to enjoy but never thought you could. You will reach your zenith when you discover the hidden truth: you don’t have to search for God’s mind. You already possess it. Keep reading and be transformed!

For who has known the mind of the Lord, that he will instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ.

Introduction

“I’M SAVED, WHY AREN’T I PROSPEROUS?”

Life is learning, and one of the truths I am learning as I grow in prophecy and understanding of the reality of God’s will and Spirit is that while faith is the heart of what it means to be human, it also has a downside. Faith, combined with ignorance, can breed a dangerous fatalism.

You almost certainly know someone like this: a person who is saved and is one of the children of the Lord, but who stands idly by and watches life and opportunity pass because they are “putting everything in God’s hands.” Such a person will often wonder—and I have had many people express this to me—why, even though they tithe and they attend church and they have accepted Christ as their Savior, why others get rich and live in mansions and drive fancy cars and they still struggle to pay their mortgage or still live in rented housing at age 40. They will ask me, “Why is God angry with me?”
I tell them the same thing: God is not angry with them, frustrated, perhaps. But then I share with them something many of them are not prepared to deal with: their prosperity or poverty lies not the hands of God, but in their hands. The fault, dear Brutus, lies not within our stars, but within ourselves. These people, who far and away are good, honest, compassionate people of faith, may love and serve God, but they do not understand God. They don’t comprehend how God operates on this earthly plane. They fail to perceive that just as He created laws of physics, biology and chemistry for this world to operate within, He also created laws to govern Himself and the Spirit that resides within each of us. Yes, God is bound by laws of His own design; without them, all would be chaos.

What happens when you are ignorant of the laws of nature and you act without regard for them? You end up in trouble—jumping off a bridge because you think you can fly, or other such foolishness. And when you are ignorant of the Laws of God, you will also end up in trouble. You will wonder why good fortune, wealth and success come to others and not to you, even though you obey God with every breath. Well, here’s the newsflash: God doesn’t want you to obey Him. He wants you to obey yourself and fulfill the divine purpose He has already ordained for you. You can’t do that if you’re ignorant of how God works in this earthly realm.

The Laws of Thinking is a book about what I call “informed faith”—faith in God that is made all-powerful and fully realized by your awareness of the Laws that govern God’s relationship with you and your relationship to the world. As you can gather from the title of the book, the Laws are all about what goes on in that fantastic structure between your ears: your mind. As you will discover, your thoughts have the authority to shape the divine nature that resides within you, the “I Am” that makes you a co-creator with the Creator. Your divine power to create what you desire in this world lies dormant inside your mind, just as it lies dormant within every man and woman on this planet. When you fully perceive its presence and purpose—and more important, the patterns and habits of thinking that bring it forth—that power switches on. Life becomes a realm of infinite possibilities. Wealth, good people, opportunity, and the chance to change some aspect of the world...they all manifest. You become god.

As you can see, this knowledge can rock your world. It’s mind-blowing and perception-expanding, and not everyone will be able to handle it. In fact, I’d say that the majority of Christians cannot handle the ideas in The Laws of Thinking. Why? Because it’s frightening to suggest that God can be comprehended, that nothing is given to you just for showing up, and that to achieve your goals in this life you must discover your passion and purpose and work your ideas to make great things happen. That puts all the responsibility for success or failure squarely on your shoulders. Many folks can’t handle that; they’re too afraid. It’s much easier for them to sit back and wait for God to throw blessings at them, like winning some sort of cosmic lottery. Fear paralyzes them, and as we’ll see, fear is a useless emotion.

Which kind of Christian will you be? One of the fearful fatalists or one of the scholars of the Law, fully aware and ready to claim your birthright as God’s junior partner, helping manifest your part of His vision for this world? What you desire most is already out there, waiting for you to bring it forth and claim it. In these pages, you’re going to learn the secrets to doing exactly that. When you’re done, make sure you also take a look at The Laws of Thinking Workbook, the companion piece to this book. It’s filled with wonderful exercises that will help you understand how you’re thinking today and develop your elevated mind, the

THE LAW OF BECOMING

Then the Lord said to Moses, “See, I have made you like God to Pharaoh, and your brother Aaron will be your prophet.”

— Exodus 7:1

Who are you? You may have thought you knew the answer to that question, but you probably did not. Don’t tell me your name; that’s what you’re called, not who you are. Until you know who you are, you will not understand where you belong. Once you know who you are, it will become abundantly clear why you are here on earth, in your body, at this time.

Let’s begin this exploration by looking at one of the most famous scenes from the Old Testament: Moses speaking to the burning bush. In this passage of the Bible, Moses hears the voice of God speaking to him from a bush that burns but is not consumed. Aware that the bush’s not being consumed is a miracle, Moses humbles himself before the Lord and receives the charge that will change his life: liberating the Hebrews from bondage.

In Exodus 3:13-14, Scripture says, Moses said to God, “Suppose I go to the Israelites and say to them, ‘The God of your fathers has sent me to you,’ and they ask me, ‘What is his name?’ Then what shall I tell them?” God said to Moses, “I am who I am. This is what you are to say to the Israelites: ‘I AM has sent me to you.’” In those two words, “I Am,” reside the wholeness of your true nature. God placed you in this world not to wait around for Him to put things into your hands, but for you to declare “I Am” yourself! When you state “I Am,” you declare not just who you are, but what your purpose is. They are one and the same. This is one of the essential truths of the Laws of Thinking:

WHEN YOU DECLARE “I AM,” YOU BECOME GOD.

Your Divine Nature

Ignorant minds will look at that statement and call it blasphemy, but that is only because they do not truly understand the nature of the relationship between God and man. Each and every one of us was created in God’s image; there is nothing in God that does not exist in man, and nothing in man that does not exist in God. You were sent here by “I Am”, and “I Am” is the state of your mind and your imagination. There is divinity in you, if you can see it.

Wow. That is a huge idea, maybe the hugest of ideas. You are god. But when you think about it, is it really so far-fetched? Man is the only creature with the power to create and shape his world, to bring things into being by first thinking them into being (because all things begin in the mind) and then working to manifest them into physical reality. Who else has the power to create what did not exist before? God, of course! When you declare your “I Am” nature, you are claiming your divine birthright and stepping into your role as God’s proxy in this world. You begin to discover your purpose, which is to walk in divinity and declare God’s will to men through your works and your actions.

What does this mean? It means that in the same way that God’s declaration becomes reality, your declaration becomes reality. When you state “I Am,” you inherit the same power to make your thoughts manifest in this reality. In this way, you move beyond want, which is the source of misery and poverty of the spirit, as Buddha knew. Instead of wanting and coveting, walk in your divine nature:

If you desire a fine house, you must be the house. If you desire to be the owner of a prosperous company, you must declare yourself to be that company. There is no difference between your being and that company, house or whatever else is your passionate desire. That is your divine power, granted to you as part of your being by the Father! There is no greater inheritance.

People Will Scorn You for Not Being Consumed

Now Moses was tending the flock of Jethro his father-in-law, the priest of Midian, and he led the flock to the far side of the desert and came to Horeb, the mountain of God. There the angel of the LORD appeared to him in flames of fire from within a bush. Moses saw that though the bush was on fire it did not burn up.

— Exodus 3:1-2

When you claim your “I Am” nature, you will be as God in that burning bush: on fire, but not consumed. This will be wondrous to you, as you feel your awareness of prophecy and God’s purpose in your life open up like a flower within you, and as you walk daily in the Word knowing you are progressing toward the destiny God ordained for you even when the Universe was formed. But when other people perceive your divine nature, they will be confused. They will see that you are as the burning bush, but that you are not consumed.

You see, most people can’t see God in man. They crave miracles, but they want to see miracles that involve seas parting or plagues of locusts (preferably raining down on people they don’t like), and they fail to realize that the true miracle is the opening of the eyes of a person like yourself. The miracle is that you are god, and that you can be in flesh, declaring yourself to be god and yet not be consumed by the Spirit within you. How is that possible? That’s the miracle. When your “I Am” consciousness becomes aware of itself, you can live and walk in Spirit and yet not be consumed by it. By becoming aware of the Spirit within you, you become that Spirit. That consciousness is a flame-retardant suit that lets you influence the Spirit to create the works of God without being burned by it.

The Law of Becoming

Do not be put aside from your purpose or discouraged by people who do not or cannot understand the nature of your true self, even as they cannot look away from the fire. The path of each life is a choice, and some will choose to become aware after you do, and others will never be aware at all. Do not pity them, but also do not listen to their negative or doubting words. Be true to your divine truth.

Are You Aware of God’s Nature?

The teachings in this part of the book are the foundation for all that comes later. The simple, cosmic truth is that God wants you to walk in divinity and experience Him the way you’re supposed to: as His partner in bringing the Word into flesh in this world. This goes against many traditions that insist God is angry, punitive and always seeking a reason to cast man into Hell. That’s absurd. If you are a reflection of everything that exists in God, why would He cast rage and retribution at Himself? Why would He damn himself? Learning the Laws of Thinking turns many traditional Christian teachings on their heads and reveals them for what they really are: methods of controlling fearful, small-minded people.

When you wake up and start partaking of God’s true nature, you begin partaking of your own true nature. Or to say it another way:

IF YOU’RE NOT AWARE OF GOD’S NATURE, YOU’RE NOT AWARE OF YOUR OWN NATURE.

THE LAWS OF THINKING

You won’t know who and what you are (and who and what you can become) until you understand who and what God is. You can only partake of a revelation that you have received. As long as you are walking in a state of unawareness, you cannot have the things that God has decreed for you.

God is Not a Noun

Whoa. I just blew your mind, didn’t I? Get used to it—that’s going to happen a lot in The Laws of Thinking. But it’s true: God is not a noun. A noun is a person, place or thing, and God is all of the above, but above all, God is a Force, a Mind, an Intellect, and a Spirit. That Spirit exists for one reason above all others: to manifest change in the world. So if you take that idea to its logical conclusion, you come to this:

GOD IS A VERB.

God is an action word. Remember, God states that His name is “I Am.” “I Am” is an action phrase that stems from the verb “to be.” So to be god—which is what you are—is to be. When you come into your “I Am” awareness, you are in action as god. God is action. God in you is a force to take action to create change in this physical reality. God is the action itself. Once you are in an “I Am” state of being, you are the action yourself.

What does that mean? It means that once you declare your “I Am,” you claim both the power and the responsibility to act on manifesting God’s will on earth. When you say “I Am,” you have just taken on a new acting role, with God waiting to see the new action you are about to take. You are the actor, writer, director, producer, and the cause of all things.

You must produce your cause, but make sure it’s in line with God’s cause. If it’s a contrary cause, you will get contrary results. John 10:30 says, “I and the Father are one.” You must be in alignment of purpose with God if your actions are to bring forth the manifestations He desires. That’s critically important. That’s why it is vital to suppress your intellect and your ego even as you are proclaiming yourself to be “I Am.” Even as you partake of the divinity that God has granted you, you must not try to impose your own will on what God desires of you. You must be open to hearing God and to producing and creating what He has in mind for you to create.

When you can set aside ego (not an easy thing for anyone to do) and keep your mind still and at peace, you open yourself to being a conduit of ideas that come to you directly from God. As long as there is that agreement of mind and purpose, you experience the constant, eternal inflow of ideas and inspiration from God.

You end up copying from the Source. It’s like having the smartest kid in class always sitting next to you, always letting you copy off his homework! You wake in the morning alive with anointing and a flood of new ideas, new things to build and create, new opportunities to sow and give, new wealth coming your way. It’s a thrilling way to live and to serve the intent of the Lord.
We Live in a Universe of Becoming

A little way back, I gave you an incomplete definition. I told you that “I Am” was taken from the verb “to be,” but that’s only partially true. “I Am” is also derived from the verb “to become.” I held this back because it was a little too soon to share it with you, but you’re ready for the revelation now. This is the revelation, the first of the Laws of Thinking:

LAW #1: WE LIVE NOT IN A UNIVERSE OF BEING, BUT OF BECOMING.

Nothing that lives is static. God is not static. He did not just create the world eons ago and then sit back and never change. God is EVOLVING; He is changing His being, His ideas, and His purposes all the time. God is becoming. And because you were created in God’s image with all things in you that are god, you are also becoming. If you stand still, if you are only being, then you are dead. We don’t live in a Universe that was made; we live in a Universe that is being made, every moment.

Everything comes in stages. Everything and everyone is evolving, changing, and becoming something new, moving toward what it will be tomorrow. And when it reaches that state, guess what? It begins to become what it will be the next day! Every moment, you are moving toward a new state of being—either toward fulfillment of your potential as determined by God or away from that fulfillment. The choice is yours, but you can never stop moving. You are always on the road to becoming someone other than who you are at this very moment. The question you must ask is:
The Law of Becoming

“WHO AM I BECOMING?”

There’s blessed freedom and joy in the fact of becoming. You are never trapped in where or what you are. You are never stuck in a state of poverty, ill health or loneliness...unless you choose to be. That is the message of “I Am.” When you declare yourself to be god, you are taking responsibility for your becoming. Isn’t God in charge? Then why should anyone else be in charge of saving you from a life that is not what you hoped it would be? The harsh reality is, no one will save you. That’s not the job of the prophets, your friends, your family, anyone. It’s not God’s job. His task is to lay the path before you and say, “Here, I have ordained this for you to follow.” Whether or not you follow is entirely up to you.

Becoming empowers us to change what we are and our lot in life. If it didn’t, people who started off poor would not become billionaire owners of huge corporations or world-famous rap superstars. They would remain on their dirt farms, or end up dead or in prison. Instead, they understood that their destiny was to become, that becoming empowered them to change their reality.

Go Back to the Word

To become, you must discover your “I Am,” and to do that you must go back to the Word. You must be at peace, rest your thoughts and your ego, and listen to the voice of God speaking to you. If you do not do this, then you will condemn yourself to live in a Universe of the past, like a still photo of the way your life once was. You will be stuck. The Universe as it is in God’s mind is a motion picture, one that He is always editing—and that you,
As God’s partner, are helping him edit. If God is the Master Editor, you in your “I Am” state of mind are His apprentice.

For some people, the concept of becoming and of an evolving, changing God is difficult to accept. It makes them feel more secure to think that God stopped with the Bible, which He never changed. But if we mirror God, then look how much the world of men has changed in the thousands of years since the stories in the Bible took place. Does it not make sense that God would change as well?

And anyway, we are in a constant state of creation. Our bodies create new cells every moment. We replace all the trillions of cells in our bodies every seven years. We are constantly being reborn in flesh, and because of God’s love, we are constantly reborn in spirit. That love gives every cell a second chance, a third chance, a fourth chance to awaken to the truth of “I Am” and realize its true potential. Every morning, you are renewed and healed. You have a brand new day to change the world.

Are You a “Favor-ite?”

In the Bible, you can read about the many tribes that lived in the land where Moses led the Hebrews after their escape from slavery: the Hittites, Jebusites, Canaanites and so on. But what if there was a new tribe, and what if membership was based not on your bloodline, but on your ability to be at one with the Word and the purpose of God, to allow God to manifest through you? What if declaring and living your “I Am” status gained you entry into this elite group? You would become a “Favor-ite,” one upon whom God has cast His grace and favor.
When you become a Favor-ite, a season of grace and favor will be upon you. Good things will come into your life without you having seemed to work for them; you were busy sowing or giving money or working to develop an idea in another area, and money just showed up at your door. And people will say, “How did you do that?” More important, they will say, “Why does he get that when I’m working so hard and I get nothing?” Just smile inside yourself and know a fundamental truth of God’s order of things:

FAVOR ISN’T FAIR.

That’s right. Favor doesn’t come to those who earn it through the sweat of their brow, and it doesn’t come to those who do nothing more than sit in church, never give more than the minimum and sit back and wait for God to smile upon them. God looks with pity on them, because they don’t get it. Favor only comes to those who understand how God operates in this world. Favor is not fair. Some people will hate you because of this inequity, but you have to be able to withstand their censure and still declare “I Am” even if they say you are arrogant. Because whose favor matters more: God’s or your neighbor’s?

How God Operates

I’ve saved the most important idea for the end of this chapter, because it’s going to shape the rest of the material to come. I’ve said that the key to favor and to realizing the potential that God has pre-ordained for your life lies in understanding how God operates in this world—comprehending the Laws He has created and therefore must follow. That fact can be boiled down to this statement:
THE LAWS OF THINKING

THE PURPOSE OF HUMAN EXISTENCE IS TO EXPRESS THE PURPOSE OF THE SPIRIT OF GOD IN THE MATERIAL WORLD.

Wow! That’s a huge idea! That would mean that instead of being put here by God to scurry around like ants, as some Christians would have you believe, God puts each of us here to play a role in bringing forth the physical manifestation of God’s plan. Each person plays a part in bringing to fruition a part of that blueprint. God is the Prime Architect, and each of us is the architect of our own existences, thinking things into being with the power of our minds. That is why God created Man: to play his role in bringing forth the myriad parts of God’s eternal purpose. To put it another way:

THE WHOLE AIM OF CREATION IS MANIFESTATION.

If that’s not earth-shaking enough for you, try this: God needs you. He needs us all. You see, God is not flesh. He is Spirit. The purpose of Spirit is to express, but because Spirit is not flesh, it cannot express itself on this material plane. It needs a vessel to fill, and then the Spirit can guide that vessel to express its purpose. Notice that the word “manifestation” even begins with the word “man.”

That is why God created us and the cosmos: to express His purpose in material reality! That’s a thrilling, humbling responsibility, isn’t it? The purpose of human existence is to express the purpose of Spirit—to make it manifest in the material realm. But to do that, you must understand that you are also spirit. You are a walking, talking spirit clothed in a suit of flesh and blood, and it is that spirit that makes you one with God.

Many people cannot feel or hear their spirit speaking within them, and so they do not speak with the voice of Spirit. That is why it is so important to be at peace and still—to quiet your mind and the chaos of your thoughts, intellect, worry and fear—so that you can hear the Spirit speaking within you. When you become fully aware of that Spirit—when you pay it full attention—you call it forth and can then claim your “I Am” state of being. You become spirit ex primo, spirit pressed out. Man is simply God pressed out into this world through flesh. When you hear and embrace the Spirit that you share with God, your words press His thoughts out, and you express the light of God within you.

That is why it is so crucial to always be thinking about wealth, prosperity, health, peace and so on. When you are speaking in Spirit, your words will manifest, for good or ill. You are here on this earth to manifest your “I Am” and to go forth and bring God’s vision to life. Your aim is to become god.

How’s that for a first chapter? There’s a lot more to come.
