CHAPTER 22

THE PROPHETIC PSYCHOLOGY OF COLOR

“O thou afflicted, tossed with tempest, and not comforted, behold, I will lay thy stones with fair colours, and lay thy foundations with sapphires.” (Isaiah 54:11)

Color is Prophetic

PRINCIPLE #1
God is life and life is color.

What color is missing out of your life? Color has a prophetic effect on people. It is a form of non-verbal communication. The personality of your spirit is represented by specific colors. Color is power. It is magic. Colors can either work for you or against you.

God is life. When you understand that God is life, then you understand that God is color. God is flamboyant. In other words, God is ornate. God is jazzy. God is flashy and dashing. God is exciting. Therefore, we should always exemplify enthusiasm and excitement each and every day of our lives. The word “enthusiasm” is derived from the word “entheos” which means, “in God”. Every time you are enthusiastic, you are operating in God, which is where your consciousness is awakened. “In him we live, and move and have our being.” (Acts 17:28) If someone is not enthusiastic, it is an indication that they have not accepted the God-consciousness within them. When you know that you are in God, you vibrate at a frequency that produces life.

God is life and life is color. Colors influence your emotions, your health and your thoughts. For example, years ago, in hospitals, thralls were purposely painted in dreary colors, like grays and grayish blues and brown tones, which would affect the patients’ health and cause them to stay in the hospital for longer periods of time. If they were able to keep patients for three extra days, that would bring more revenue into the hospital. Studies have found that elderly people are less motivated and stimulated by the color brown because it subconsciously reminds them of the “fall season” of their lives. The next season would be winter, which is the season of death.

Color is light energy. If you examine the different species of salt water fish, you will see the multiple colors that vibrate and glow from the sea world. This proves that God is flamboyant. If you examine the various species of birds, for example, the peacock, with its multi-colored feathers, that proves that God is flamboyant. When you look at the different species of flowers, such as the lily, or the multiple colors of the rose, they prove that God is flamboyant. If you study the planets and their multiple colors, that proves that God is flamboyant. If God depicts His radiance through his creation, then why do some clergy choose to wear dark colors? Aren’t we supposed to be showing forth the glory of God, the majesty of God?
Color is like vitamins. If you need a particular vitamin, mineral or enzyme in your body, you simply take it. Likewise, if you need a particular color in your life, simply add to your diet, your wardrobe, your environment. Many people experience depression and attract others with a like aura because of the lack of color vibrating in their lives or the over-expression of other colors vibrating in their lives. Color is either missing from their lives or certain colors need to be eliminated from their lives.

Color is light energy vibrating in matter. Every organ in the body has a particular color from the color spectrum with which it correlates and vibrates. The gallbladder responds to a particular color; the pancreas responds to a particular color; the spleen responds to a particular color; the heart responds to a particular color; the brain responds to a particular color; and the reproductive organs respond to a particular color. Honeymoon suites are decorated in red and pink to stimulate the emotions. Some women wear red lipstick or red fingernail polish because subconsciously their body is craving stimulation.

Color stimulates and tranquilizes. The personality of your spirit is represented by specific colors. Some people have too much black and white in their lives. Others mix too much black and white, which results in gray. Gray vibrates confusion. But really you should be wearing the colors of your day. The most effective colors would be the colors of your individual sun sign. Every sun sign is born with two colors. Also, every day represents a color. Every day of week represents a planet, for example, Sunday represents the sun; Monday represents the moon; Saturday represents Saturn; and each planet vibrates a particular color. We are supposed to respect the planet of that day. Colors remind us that we are unique expressions of God.
Color in Diet

Diets do not work. People have tried all kinds of diets, the Atkins Diet, the watermelon diet, the rice diet, etc. However, eating the right foods and lifestyle change is the most effective way to lose weight. You have to include all of the colors of the spectrum in your diet. If you commit to having rainbow salad and foods that represent the colors of the spectrum, your diet will be balanced. Too much white on your plate is not healthy (white pasta, white rice, white flour, white meat). In the same way, too much brown is not good (brown gravies, sauces). Where is the yellow on the plate? Where is the purple on the plate? Where is the orange on the plate? These are the things that you were made out of that bring the vibratory effect of balance in your life. Did you eat your colors today? Listen to this prophetic news announcement. If you don’t eat your colors, you will die.

Life is Color

God is a God of brilliance. God is flamboyant. God is stimulating, activating, captivating and motivating, and that is the way you should feel. If you eat your colors in the morning, you will feel motivated, stimulated, captivated and activated. Color should be a part of your morning diet, not your cereal and milk, which is depleted of color; not your brown bacon, which is depleted of color; not your brown pancakes and brown syrup; not your coffee. If you do not eat your colors, you will be excessively tired and suffer from inflammation, aches and pains. But if you eat your colors, you will wake up in the morning invigorated and energized saying, “This is the day that the Lord has made. I will rejoice and be glad.” You will be motivated to exercise.
Our bodies are being constantly challenged in life. We are exposed daily to chemical toxins and other dangerous elements in the environment. We are bombarded by electromagnetic radiation and microwaves. Color is energy that is vibrating in the air. Too much of the wrong color creates a chemical imbalance. For example, if a baby’s room is painted all yellow, the baby will constantly cry. A blue room brings calm. McDonald’s and Burger King restaurants are painted colors that will attract people to the restaurant. Foods are situated on supermarket shelves to stimulate your desire. Color affects the entire body. The right colors will bring balance to your life. Color is a relationship between nature and the soul. If the color red is missing in a person’s life, it is an indication that he/she is having a problem in sexuality as well in their reproductive organs. If violet is missing in a person’s life, their concentration and focus is affected.

God is life, life is color. You just cannot continuously feed your body poison and think that you are going to vibrate with brilliant colors. Colors can make us feel sad, or colors can make us feel happy and fascinated with life.

The Color Red

Red corresponds to the root chakra, which is connected to our sexuality. Red represents fire, which is important for all living beings. Fire keeps us alive. The body’s normal temperature is 98.6 degrees, which is heat. The stomach contains digestive fluids called hydrochloric acid, which is hot. People who have too much acid in their system may experience acid reflux disease, which means the root chakra is over-stimulated. As a result, they may suffer from ulcers, fibroses, tumors or prostate cancer. Many people refuse to modify their diet and bring their body into balance. They will continue to eat spicy foods and other foods that over-stimulate their root charka. As a result, they develop digestive disorders later in life. They may also find that they are constantly angry. They also suffer from inflammation in their legs, neck and other parts of their body.

Red is used when the life force needs stimulation. Red rays form hemoglobin. Hemoglobin is found in red blood cells. Red also activates blood circulation. If you have too much blood, it will cause inflammation and arthritis. It will also cause you to be constantly angry. Approximately, 99.9% of inflammation, whether it is arthritis or swelling etc., is a result of the root chakra being out of balance. The kidney, bladder, sexual organs and heart are all associated with the color red.

The Color Orange

Orange is related to the second chakra. Orange is a combination of red and yellow. It is a warm color. It affects the lungs. It helps eradicate symptoms of asthma, bronchitis and other upper respiratory diseases. Orange has a lasting effect. It helps prevent a person from going into spasms. Your bronchial tubes and lungs can go into spasms if you collect too many free radicals, such as pollen and ragweed. This is an indication that there is too much orange in your system.

Yellow is related to the third chakra. Yellow activates the motor nerves and generates muscle energy. Yellow helps strengthen the muscles. Yellow is also used with people who are depressed. Yellow light has a positive effect. Yellow also increases secretion. Eating certain yellow vegetables such as squash will help with vaginal dryness and to regulate bowels.

Green is related to the fourth chakra. Green is the color of nitrogen. 78% of the atmosphere is formed by nitrogen. Green helps to stimulate clearer thinking, an atmosphere of peace and stimulates the heart. Blood is green. Blood turns red once it is exposed to oxygen. Green foods are beneficial to your diet. Green helps to keep the bloodstream clean. You cannot be fruitful and productive without green.

Blue is related to the fifth chakra. Blue helps to cool the body. Blue has the highest energy in the color spectrum, even though it has a powerful calming effect. It helps relieve inflammation and swelling. It also helps calm the nerves.

Indigo is related to the sixth chakra. It purifies the blood circulation and control the psychic energy flow. It helps stimulate the third eye. Indigo also gives you energy.

Violet is related to the seventh chakra. It is useful in hair growth and can be used for many other disorders, including behavior disorders. Violet is a spiritual color. It helps to bring the spiritual body into the front where it should be and all the other bodies follow. The spiritual body should always lead. When the spiritual body is lead by the other bodies’ sickness and disease manifest because the body is out of order.

Gold is also a powerful color. Spiritually, gold means deity in manifestation. Green and gold stimulate prosperity. They will bring increase, prosperity and endless possibilities into your life.

AFFIRMATION

God is life and life is color.

We serve a colorful God.

God created the colors.

I see myself as colorful as the peacock and as flamboyant as God.
